

The Wisconsin No-Call list should remain as it is. This no-call list has saved us from hundreds of annoying calls every year from obnoxious telemarketers. I have no problem answering the phone to talk to a company that I already do business with - my telephone company, current credit card companies or with those non-profit organizations who are soliciting for donations. I do not like to be interrupted 4-5 times every evening to be pestered by companies that I have no personal relationship with. We noticed recently that our placement on the no-call list was expired because now we are getting 3-5 calls per evening from telemarketers. What is extremely annoying are times we actually answer our phone and it is dead silence on the other end. Again, we are asking for the no-call list in Wisconsin to remain as it is.
